RESONANCE: THE DESIGN OF LIFE

Every plant obtains its energy from the sun. It is then converted into a specific set of vibrational frequencies that can be used to support the bio-electric signaling impulses that flow back and forth between your brain and specific glands, organs and tissues. In physics the phenomenon in which one vibrating system (e.g. a plant) drives another system (e.g. the body) to oscillate with a greater amplitude of specific frequencies is called resonance. BIO-RES SLEEP has been formulated to provide resonant energy to support the metabolic processes required to achieve undisturbed quality sleep.*
